Privacy Policy

The American Latex Allergy Association (ALAA) respects the privacy of our site visitors and members. We are committed to protecting the personal information that you provide us. We only use general statistics gathered from our site traffic for our own purposes.

The American Latex Allergy Association (ALAA) will only request specific information from you in order to complete a transaction. We will not sell or share member names or any other information collected with any other organizations or companies. We may use your personal information to contact you in the future.

All credit card information is taken in a secure environment, and all data are then passed in encrypted form to our processor.

The American Latex Allergy Association (ALAA) website contains links to other websites over which we have no control. The ALAA is not to be held responsible for the privacy policies of other organizations and websites that are linked from the ALAA website.

The ALAA authorizes you to view or download a single copy of the material on the website solely for your personal, noncommercial use. All documents must be kept in their original format and may not be altered. Copyright © The American Latex Allergy Association, all rights reserved and other copyright and proprietary rights notices that are contained in the ALAA website content.

If there are any changes to this policy, we will post the changes immediately. Any information given to us prior to a change in policy will still be protected by the policy that was in place when you provided us with the information. By using our web site and providing this information to us, you consent to our collection, use and storage of your information in the manner described above.

If you have any questions or concerns about the protection of your privacy while visiting our site, please feel free to contact us [1].

Thank you for reading this privacy policy and visiting our web site.
